A closed-ended question refers to any question for which a researcher provides research participants with options from which to choose a response. Closed-ended questions are sometimes phrased as a statement which requires a response.. A closed-ended question contrasts with an open-ended question, which cannot easily be answered with specific information.

Closed-ended question - Wikipedia

Previous studies of the relationship between social structural changes and individual-level perceptions have focused on perceptions of 'well-being'. Those studies conclude that relative position in the social structure (e.g., more or less income compared to others) determines perceived 'well-
